Dedication

To Mrs. Katherine Johnson, kindly friend, sincere and understanding teacher, we, the Class of 1952, respectfully dedicate this issue of the Climber.

Editorial

To millions of people outside West Bridgewater, March 21 is merely the first day of spring. To us it is the anniversary of the burning of the old Howard High School building. It has been three years since the faculty and pupils of Howard High have had a normal school day. In view of this fact it seems remarkable that Howard High has been forced to curtail so few of its extra-curricular activities. It has not, only because teachers and students have worked together during the past three emergency years to make Howard High a school of which we all can justly be proud.

The foremost concern of any school is the education of its pupils. Consequently, the academic standing of a school is of prime importance. Despite severe overcrowding and short sessions, the Howard faculty has managed to keep our academic standard high enough to retain the coveted State Board of Education class "A" rating. Our standard of scholarship is as high as that of other schools. This is proved by the fact that Howard graduates who have gone on to college are successfully competing with graduates of other schools. Howard High has done well in the education of its pupils during the past three years though both teachers and pupils have been under severe strain.

When the school building burned in 1949, we expected extra-curricular activities to be drastically curtailed. Thanks to the untiring efforts of the faculty, sports are still a part of our program. Working together, faculty and students solved problems, conquered pessimism, and produced some fine teams. The 1950 girls' basketball team and the 1950 football team were undefeated. Three boys' basketball teams have played in the South Shore Tournament. Of course, not all our teams were winners, but all were noted for good sportsmanship. They made a fine record under extremely adverse circumstances only because all concerned worked hard and cooperated with one another to the fullest extent.

This cooperation is also evident in other phases of our extra-curricular activity. Though cramped, crowded, and rushed, we managed to participate in outside activities with rewarding results. Twice in the past three years Howard High has won the Tri-Town Essay Contest. The yearbook, The Climber, has remained a fine publication. In dramatics, the junior and senior classes have continued to present three one-act plays and one three-act play each year. Many dances have been sponsored by various classes. Much time and energy of both teachers and students have been expended on these successful extra-curricular projects which are a credit to Howard High.

It is apparent that all this could never have been accomplished without a strong spirit of cooperation and a willingness to work. If this spirit, which has been our salvation during the past three years, persists in the new school, we shall have the finest anywhere.

Class Song

(To the tune "Tenderly")

To Howard High we say good-bye, tenderly;
The memories fond will linger on, tenderly.
The fun we have had through our high school years
Will later bring smiles through our tears.
We face the world and bigger things eagerly;
We hope that we may seek our dreams successfully.
We'll hold our heads high and whisper good-bye,
And hope that we will meet again at Howard High.

Evensong

This is the season for me
When the hunter's moon hangs high.
The south flying geese are winging
Across the evening sky.

From a wooded glen the air drifts down
With the pungent smell of leaves,
And the distant splash of a little brook
Mingles with the breeze.

The evening time is passing,
It is the twilight of the year,
When all life pauses to gird itself
For the winter coming near.

Class Ode

The bell chimed out the strokes, and there were twelve;
And as they rang, resounding in my mind,
Each one a year brought back of schooldays gone.
The tide of time, magnificent and bold,
Had washed upon them. They were passed away.
They were not lost; each year had borne its fruit,
Had brought its harvest from that fertile tree
Called knowledge. Yet the time so fast has flown;
Childhood's hours seem water o'er the dam.
Youth to maturity must blossom forth;
New life begins almost before the old
Has ceased. But through the ever-flowing years
The friendships formed will never be forgot;
The things we've learned, the knowledge, will remain;
Though high school days are slipped into the past,
Into the time called yesterday, they are
Not irretrievably gone; they
Live in memory, recalled with pleasure,
And with gratitude to our Howard High.

Memories

Like every other graduating class, we have some very special memories. To others, the things that we recall do not seem at all important, but to us they are the things that have made our last four years fun. We shall not, perhaps, often look back on the classes and the home work of our high school days, but we shall always remember the ridiculous nicknames, hilarious incidents, and the "horrible tragedies" connected with our extra-curricular life. For this reason we have attempted to set down some of the most memorable happenings of our Howard High days.

The beautiful building — its shaky floors — and that day four years ago when we became timid (?) freshmen — The dependable furnace, hot on hot days, cold on cold days — the snowdrifts in Room 1 — the beautiful (?) Greek art on the walls — the mountain climbing expeditions to Room 8 — the disaster, the fire — trying to find our way around Bridgewater Junior High School — Mrs. Murphy's supersonic algebra class — our fascinating freshman assembly.

The Sturbridge trip holds memories for everyone — the Junior Class Plays starring Miss Killen's "Acrobatic Pie" — the undefeated football team — Mr. Viens' Saturday morning chemistry classes — the easy chairs in Study Hall — Mrs. Viens' high heels — Mr. Moss's annual jokes — that little-known adventure, "The Brawl" — the Junior Prom, before, during, and after — Mr. Viens' room with the built-in refrigerator and his familiar cry of "Paper! Paper!" — bus rides to the various games — the autographed lapboards — the "iron will" of C. A. — our number one sweater girl, "Dagmar" — the name that withstood the years, "Beanbag" — the guided missiles in Study Hall — Miss Rylander's stamping and facial expressions.

Dr. Viens' diagnosis of "Senioritis" — the political machine, the "Wheels" — the engagement fad — our plans for a wedding — the Senior Reception — Mr. Sperandio's lectures — the Nantucket trips — the invasion of Turner's room — Bob May's baggy pants — Mr. Virchow's favorite example, Reynolds' ballpoint pen — and our fight-to-the-finish arguments in Economics — the 5:40 rush — the lost loves of Frank Perry — those certain P. J. parties with all males excluded — the case of the leaky football — "The girl most likely to succeed" — the Senior Class Play and "Merglethorpe" — basketball's Five and Tenney.

Junior Class Plays

After several weeks of rehearsing and making preparations, the class of 1952 presented the Junior Class Plays on Friday evening, April 4, 1951, at the town hall.

The first play, "Dark Light," was coached by Wm. Henry Moss. The cast of characters included: Greta, played by Natalie Hollertz; Laspig, by Robert Leighton; Kathie, by Barbara Ward; and Paul, by Erick Benson. The play, one of drama, took place at the present time, in an eerie basement apartment, where Kathie comes to meet some fellow members of a secret society and to discover, finally, the evil purpose it holds.

The second play, "Last Flight Over," was coached by Jacqueline Killen, and the characters included: Dave, by Robert May; Father, by Theodore Kehoe; Mattie, by Janet Goodwin; Benny by Johnny Adams; and Sairy, by Jean Olsen. The scene was in the living room of a pioneer "soddie hut" on the Nebraska prairie, on the forenoon of a day in late October, 1867. It was just after the death of the mother of the household, and portrayed the age-old misunderstanding between father and son.

The third play "Silver Anniversary" was coached by Joseph Burgess. The cast included Warren Turner, as Danny Ballew; Estelle Eaton, as Millie Jones; Susan Ames as Barbara Corrigan; Donald Foye as Bob Wheatley; Clyde Jopling as Joe Corrigan; Beatrice Gummow as Margaret Corrigan; and Frank Perry and Robert Poirier as the two truck drivers. The scene took place in the living room of the Corrigan home, about seven o'clock of an evening in mid-June. The play concerned the determined attempt of a radio station to celebrate over the air the silver anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Corrigan, without their knowledge or consent.

The plays turned out to be very successful in spite of the "upside-down apple pie" and the disappearing table cloth in "Last Flight Over."

JUNIOR

FROM

The Junior Prom

On Saturday night, May 26, 1951, there wasn't a Junior in Howard High School without a few butterflies in his or her stomach. The night of our long-awaited Junior Prom had finally come; all the work was done and the main thing now was to relax and have a good time. So we donned our formal clothing and left for the Bridgewater Junior High School where our Prom was held.

The hall had been beautifully decorated in blue and white, and on the stage was the orchestra of George Uto who supplied us with very danceable music. Many people turned out for our dance including many of the student body. Patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. James Kehoe, Mrs. James Leighton, Mr. and Mrs. William May, Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Moss, Miss Janice Rylander, and Mr. and Mrs. Peter J. Sperandio.

Halfway through the evening the class and the Senior Class officers formed a very picturesque Grand March. Following this was the crowning of our lovely queen, Barbara Ward.

I am sure that all who attended had a very delightful time, for the Class of '52 feels that it was a Prom to be remembered always.

Natalie Hollertz

The Football Dance

We, as Juniors, held the Football Dance on Saturday night, October 14, 1951. As we wanted to invite other schools too, we decided to hold it the weekend that the Nantucket team, with their cheerleaders, came to play us.

We decorated the Unitarian Church in maroon and white, and tied innumerable balloons around the hall. All students, from Nantucket, Howard High, and other schools had an enjoyable time dancing to the hit records of the day.

Chairmen of the dance committees were: Susan Ames, Tickets; Laurie Burford, Publicity; Bob May, Music; Patricia Snow, Decorations; Lois Gummow, Refreshments; and James Gallagher, Clean-up.

Senior Class Play

On December 14 and 15 our Senior Class put on their play for the year of '51-'52. The play was "Three Misses and a Myth," a comedy in three acts written by John S. Kennedy. The story of the play is as follows:

When 'teen age Suzie begins talking to her imaginary friend Merglethorpe, the Livingstons decide to consult a psychiatrist. But since Mr. Livingston is being considered for a promotion at the office, and sixteen year old Anne is trying to help him by entertaining the boss's son, the matter must be very hush-hush. They reckon without Suzie, who has her own ideas of helping. With the aid of Merglethorpe and her two girl friends, Cotton and Audrey, she plunges Mr. Livingston into serious trouble by taking an insulting letter he had written, without any intention whatever of mailing it, and passing it in to her teacher as a home-work assignment. His efforts to regain the letter, which his boss has heard about, and to placate his boss's wife with a box of candy, result in complete disaster—because of Merglethorpe's advice to Suzie. Suzie, angry with her teacher, takes a candy box, places a frog in it, and then wraps it up nicely. In the meantime, Mr. Livingston comes home with the candy for Mrs. Rockford and wraps it up in the same kind of paper Suzie has done hers up in. The result is that Suzie's teacher, Miss Maude, gets the real box of candy, and Mrs. Rockford gets the frog. This, together with Suzie's other antics, helps cause Mr. Livingston to be fired. The boss is now of the opinion that the whole family is crazy. Mr. Livingston orders Merglethorpe out of the house and he is presumably lost. A slow-witted policeman, misunderstanding the situation, sends out a general alarm to find him. The girls are heartbroken and things look pretty black. But Suzie makes a final effort to save the family fortunes, and does so quite by accident. Her letter written to replace the one Miss Maude rejected represented her as accepting a position as the vice-president of some business concern. This letter falls into the hands of Mr. Rockford, who thinks that Mr. Livingston wrote the letter. This makes him realize the value of Mr. Livingston and he hires him back. Anne's romance with Barry is patched up and Mr. Livingston gets his promotion. Just when everyone is ready to relax with a sigh of relief, Merglethorpe comes back.

The play was a great success, and everyone in the cast played a splendid role. The mischief Audrey gets into, Boyle's wild chase around the house looking for Merglethorpe, Anne's fight with Barry, Mrs. Rockford's fainting spell, the delicious fudge that Suzie and her girlfriends made, and Miss Maude's brief visits, these and many more episodes contributed to the amusement of the play.

The Senior Class is very grateful to Mrs. Evelyn Viens and Miss Janice Rylander for coaching the play. The cast enjoyed working with Mrs. Viens and Miss Rylander immensely. The cast included the following:

Suzie	Barbara Ward
Mrs. Livingston	Patricia Snow
Mr. Livingston	Clyde Jopling
Audrey	Carol Alexander
Cotton	Estelle Eaton
Anne	Natalie Hollertz
Barry	Warren Turner
Mrs. Rockford	Patricia Dillenschneider
Mr. Rockford	Erick Benson

Student Council

The 1951-52 Student Council officers were: President, Erick Benson; Vice President, Francis Perry; Secretary, Adelaide Emery; and Treasurer, Ted Kehoe. Robert May and Jane Smith were in charge of the Social Calendar of the school this year.

The Council continued selling candy and also had potato chips for sale during home room period. The Council also inaugurated a new traffic system to relieve congestion in the corridors and to save time between classes.

Two changes concerning girls' varsity awards were approved by the Council. First, any girl who plays softball and earns a letter shall not be given one until the end of her second year of participation; and then she shall be given a letter for every year she has earned one. Second, cheerleaders will be given a letter for every complete year of cheering.

The 1951 Football Season

During seven years of varsity interscholastic football competition, Howard High has produced an undefeated team and several powerful clubs. Consequently, Howard was perhaps due to have a weaker team. Although the 1951 team was definitely weaker than Howard fans are accustomed to, its games were not lacking in thrills. Losing three games by only seven points, the Howard team, a notoriously slow starter, always managed to pour it on in the second half to give the fans their money's worth.

Bob Chadwick, Junior scat-back, and Donnie Gummow, Sophomore sensation, consistently made sparkling plays to set the crowd cheering; and when the going got rough, veterans Bob May, Ted Kehoe, and Bob Leighton managed to pull things together again. To take the places of co-captains Ted Kehoe and Bob May, the team elected hard-hitting "Pinky" Pratt and steamroller Ralph Howe for next year's football season.

Although the season was a poor one, except for the gain in morale which came when Howard defeated its arch-rival Bridgewater, the boys never failed to show the fine sportsmanship that coaches Walter K. Pauli and Arthur Tenney had taught them.

The season in brief:

Howard 21	Scituate	33	Howard 19	Yarmouth	25
Howard 26	Marshfield	6	Howard 7	Cohasset	0
Howard 13	Hanover	20	Howard 7	Westwood	20
Howard 7	Nantucket	13	Howard 7	Bridgewater	0
	Howard 14	Oliver Ames	44

Girls' Basketball

The Howard High girls' basketball team of 1951-52 put in a hard season this year under the able coaching of Mr. Roger Viens. The girls, though handicapped by inexperience and the loss of three team members through sickness, nevertheless put up a good fight in every game. They showed good spirit, and their fine sportsmanship was admired by all.

The Maroon and White sextet first met the much more experienced Alumnae and suffered a strong defeat, 26-12; then they went on to lose a heartbreaker to Avon, 28-27; after this, the girls lost four more in a row: to Randolph 39-15, to Sumner 40-29, to Attleboro 62-39, and to Rockne 39-20. Coach Viens' team then returned to the win column by beating Bridgewater 28-24, but then lost to Attleboro again by 53-38 and to Randolph 37-19. The team then went on to defeat Sumner 36-34 and to lose another heartbreaker to Avon 38-34. Another win over Bridgewater, this time by the score of 24-19, followed; and the girls finished the season in fine style, defeating the hitherto undefeated Rockne team of Brockton 37-36.

The team play of this year's squad showed constant improvement throughout the season. Next year, the squad will have its work cut out for it as six of twelve players will be lost through graduation in June.

Boys' Basketball

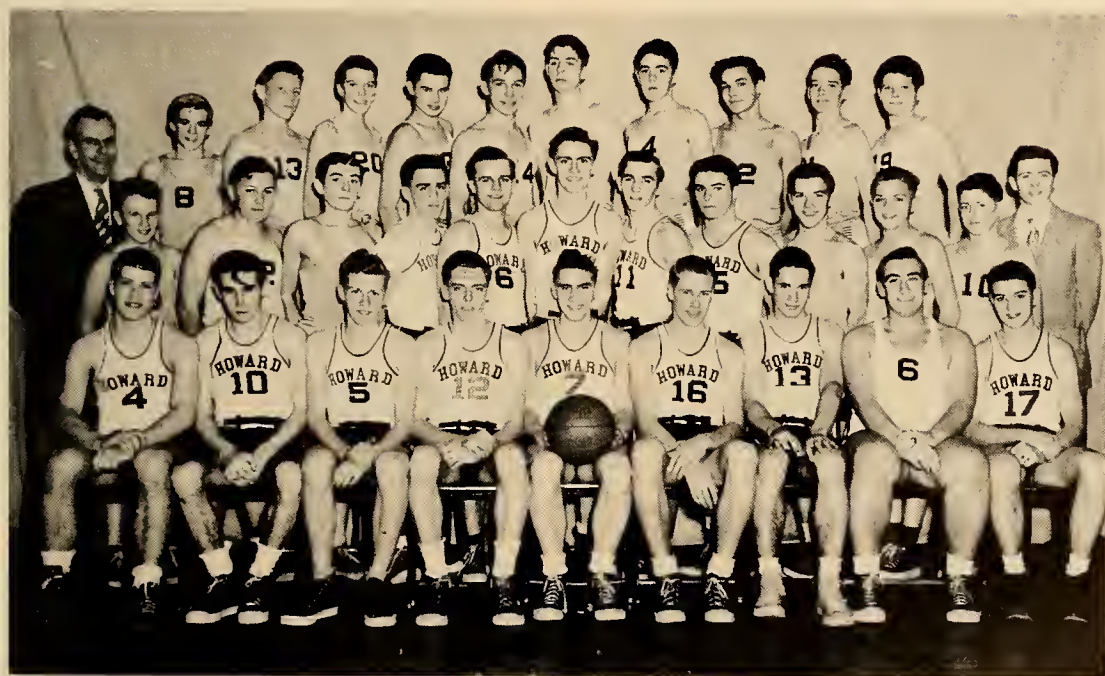

The Howard High School quintet, under their new coach, Arthur Tenney, finished in fifth place in the Mayflower League with a record of seven wins and nine losses. The team compiled, over the season, a grand total of 752 points to their opponents' 887 points. The leading scorers were: forward, Ted Kehoe, who led with a total of 183 points; Captain Erick Benson, guard and the team's rebound man, who scored 148 points; and forward Robert May, with 138 points.

The quintet got off to a good start by taking three of their first four games, beating the Alumni 50-43, losing to East Bridgewater 53-38, winning from Norton 38-29, and from Wrentham 51-42. They then lost four straight: to Holbrook 69-49, to Avon 56-43, to Bridgewater 47-40, and to East Bridgewater 63-52. Next came two more wins, from Norton 57-50 and from Wrentham 55-44. But these two wins were followed by the team's worst defeat, to Holbrook 102-45. The boys came back to beat Avon 48-46, but lost to Bridgewater 88-46. They then took one of their remaining three games, winning over Plainville 51-41, and completing the season with losses to Norwell 53-40 and to Plainville 57-55.

The Howard quintet will be looking forward to a good season next year. Many of this year's letter men will be returning, among whom will be the newly elected captain, John MacDonald.
